ABOUT ME

I am a student at a Czech university who completed two years of self-study in programming, with 6 months commercial experience. I have three IT School's certificates with high scores and leading positions in the group. Programming reflects not only my profession, but also my lifestyle. With the softskills listed, I excel in demonstrating adaptability, working in team or independently. This combination of technical and interpersonal skills drives my desire to be a universal and effective Front-end Developer.
